

clothes drying rack

Guan Xin | Rutul Shah | Francisco Peier

chinese students' flat 4 students

use during day time
use during night time

indian students' flat
2 students

use during day time
use during night time

swiss students' flat
3 students

use during day time
use during night time

simply wood construction

hooks with string

collapsible rack

Three industrial design students belonging to different country, tradition, concepts and thinking started this workshop with discussing about themselves. We all wanted to make prototype so started talking about their own nations products. That talk led us to understand the consumer habits and problems area in Switzerland, India and china. Then we narrowed it down to problem areas which are common in all three countries. We had a discussion and Guan Xin suggested the problem related to drying clothes if we have less space. There are some other problems due to bad weather condition too.

So we decided to make a clothes drying rack for indoor as well as for outdoor which solves the present problem. We did research on behaviour and process of washing clothes in different countries.

simple form | construct with 3 sticks collapsible rack | open

rack | screen | room divider

flexible rack

INTERNATIONAL DESIGN SUMMER SCHOOL 2013

CHINA – INDIA – SWITZERLAND

Students: Jiabei He, Jessica Huang, Xiaofei Quian, Shao Qushi, Yifan Li, Dan Mou, Xin Guan, Xi Wang, Quian Xu, Wen Chen, Chaitanya Vijay Doke, Vishakha Vijay Shidhaye, Ambuja Mittal, Rutul Shah, Nidhi Dharam Tekwani, Ankan Sengupta, Suraj Kiran Baadkar, Indrajeet Jagdish Deshmukh, Ananya Singh, Meghna Saha, Tao Lin, Luc Lindegger, Marielle Roth, Nils Loos, Camille Peiry, Francisco Peier, Flavio Vogel, Selin Bourquin, Lukas Nagler, Rodrigo Cortes Guadarrama
Faculty: Francis Müller, Zurich University of the Arts, Jie Shen, Jiangnan University, Wuxi, Jiao Mo, Tongji University, Shanghai, Aarti Srivastava, National Institute for Design, Ahmedabad, Meera Curam, Sriшти, Bangalore, Flurina Gradin, Lakstein Fernandez, Yi Salomo

Universities: Tongji University, Shanghai, Jiangnan University, Wuxi, JJ Art School Mumbai, National Institute of Design, Ahmedabad, Sriшти Bangalore, Zurich University of the Arts